Rules Pipelines Can Raise Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today decided natural gas pipeline companies may raise their prices without waiting for approval by the Federal Power Commission.

The decision was given on an appeal by the commission and three pipeline companies from a ruling by the U. S. Court of Appeals here that gas suppliers could not do so unless their customers agreed to the rate increases.

Justice Harlan delivered the 5-3 decision. Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black joined. Justice Clark took no part.

Youth Tries to Shoot Another Saturday a. m.

During the weekend local officers arrested a youth for trying to shoot another man was hit by an auto on Highway 20 south of here, one person was charged with assault and a man was found in critical condition from exposure.

Saturday about 8 a. m. Billy Joe Rogers, 18, attempted to shoot James Roberts at the home of the latter's grandfather, Joe Morton, Investigating City Officers said.

Police Chief Jack Brown and investigating officers gave this account of the incident. Rogers and Roberts had an argument Friday night at a cafe. Saturday morning Rogers appeared at the Morton home and was told by Mr. Morton, who thought the boys were going hunting, that young Roberts was asleep. Rogers went into the bedroom carrying a shotgun and fired at Roberts, the shot barely missing his head. Mr. Morton ran into the room and overpowered Rogers. Officers said it was very close with powder marks from the gun striking Roberts' face.

Rogers has been charged with attempt to murder. He was released on $500 bond. Sheriff Jimmie Cook said this morning.

Pedestrian Hit
About noon yesterday, 10 miles south on Highway 29, an auto driven by Coy Bohanan of Spring Hill, La., hit Mike Didick, 68, of North Dakota, who was walking across the highway to Powell's Grocery. State Policeman Al Smith said Didick had stopped his car and started walking across the road to the store. A small hill blocked the view of the driver. Smith said the impact knocked Didick about 45 to 50 feet. He suffered head lacerations and body bruises. He was brought to a local hospital by a Jordan-Cornell ambulance. His condition is not considered critical. No charges were filed.

On West Third Street a man was picked up by an Oakcrest Ambulance about 9 a. m. Sunday and rushed to a local hospital where he was treated for exposure. His condition was believed serious. Officers listed the man as Owen Neal, Sheriff Jimmie Cook said today that Floyd Wright has been charged with assault and was free on bond. The sheriff said the complaining witness was a 25-year-old waitress. The incident occurred Friday night.

School Tax Gets Voter Approval

Only 83 votes were cast in Saturday's school election in which voters gave wholehearted approval to the existing school mill tax and named Judd Martindale and Norman Moore to three year terms on the Hope School Board.

There were 77 votes for the school millage and only six against. Neither of the board members had any opposition.

Corner Bryce Norman said the first victim apparently died of a heart attack. Autopsies on the bodies of the other two were inconclusive. Tissue samples will be tested by state police.

The chain of death began Friday when 24-year-old Louis Lee Warden of Little Rock pulled into Lancaster with a 1954 Ford farm tractor. Warden, 40, was 1.6 m. and had covered more than 1,000 miles.

Warden said he was ill and went to bed in the bunkhouse which 150 judd maintains at his service station-restaurant on U. S. Highway 63. Late that afternoon, Warden was found dead.

He suffered from a heart ailment. His death was attributed to the disease and his body was sent back to Little Rock.

Warden's employer, D. W. Hoskins of Malvern sent two drivers north with a load of lumber. They were John Parker, 24, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern. One was to drive Warden's truck back to Malvern.

They went to bed about 1 a. m. Sunday. At 7 a. m. both men were found dead.

Corner Norman said the 18-year-old Warden was heated by a stove which burns kerosene. He has asked for a state inspection to determine if the heater is releasing lethal fumes.

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP)—Three truck drivers, weary from the long drive from central Arkansas to this north Missouri village, went to sleep in a truck stop bunkhouse. All three of them died there.

Why? At this stage, no one knows. Corner Bryce Norman said the first victim apparently died of a heart attack. Autopsies on the bodies of the other two were inconclusive. Tissue samples will be tested by state police.

Rules Profits Can't Fix Land Value

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today held that net profits from operation of an auto racing track cannot be considered in fixing the value of land on which the track is located.

Because testimony to that effect was introduced in Saffine Circuit Court, the high court ordered reversal of a condemnation suit brought by the Arkansas Highway Department.

The department took some 4 1/2 acres belonging to Charles E. Addy, operator of the Benton Speed Bowl, located at the junction of U. S. Highway 67-70 and the Alcoa Plant Road.

Addy testified in the lower court that the net profit of nearly $5,000 from the bowl in 1956 and $6,775 last year. Other witnesses who testified about the value of the property said they considered profit levels in determining the appraised value of the property.

Addy cited a recent court decision where evidence of profits was admissible in court. But Associate Justice Sam Robinson, who wrote today's unanimous Supreme Court opinion, said the ruling cited by Addy involved farm land and was an exception.

A lower court jury awarded Addy $20,000 for the property which was taken from a 12-acre plot of land. Justice Robinson cited other recent decisions which held the profit element cannot be considered in arriving at land value.

Addy's witnesses said replacement value of the land and improvements would be $20,000, and that the worth of the five acres left was only $6,250.

500 Year Old Book Auctions for $89,000

An expert from Christie's, London, noted antique auctioneers discovered the book by chance in a basket of silverware at the Manor house of the late Baron Langlois. Three London book-sellers were the purchasers.

Fred Ellis, Secretary-Manager of the Association, said that Hope Federal had a little over $1 million in savings and share accounts and that these dividend payments would amount to about $20,000.

Group Opens a Historic Civil Rights Inquiry

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Tuskegee Negro leader told the Civil Rights Commission today that only 4 per cent of the Negroes in his county are registered voters but that the percentage among white residents runs as high as 70-75 per cent.

William P. Mitchell, who recalled that he was rejected as a prospective voter until he filed a court suit 13 years ago, was the first witness called to testify in the commission's historic inquiry into Negro voting complaints in the South.

The commission opened its first public hearing in a crowded U. S. courtroom. Judge Richard T. Reeves, in whose courtroom the hearing is being conducted, represented Tuskegee registration officials in contesting Mitchell's lawsuit in 1945. That was before he became a judge.

A showdown was delayed on the threatened refusal of defendant Alabama officials to produce voting records from six Alabama counties which were supposed to be in the hearing. The commission said it would hear testimony from complaining Negro witnesses first.

Circuit Court Judge George C. Wallace of Clayton, Ala., who has impounded voter registration files in two of the counties, failed to answer when his name was called as a witness. What action might be taken by the commission was to be decided later.

Mitchell, who is secretary of the Tuskegee Civic Assn., which has spearheaded the Negro registration efforts in Macon County, told the commission only 1,110 Negroes are registered as voters out of a Negro population of approximately 27,000. He said something over 14,000 of them are of voting age.

Chairman John A. Hannah and Vice Chairman Robert G. Slattery issued prepared statements at the outset of the investigation, emphasizing that the hearing will be what they termed a fact-finding inquiry and nothing more.

The commission gave defendant Alabama officials a new chance to answer charges of discrimination against prospective Negro voters.

But as the hearing opened, there was no indication that subpoenaed voter registration records in six counties would be surrendered to the commission. Hannah and Slattery withheld comment on what action might be taken if the witnesses persisted in their threatened refusal to produce records.

Instead they said the hearing offered officials a chance to disprove the Negroes' charges. If they can, and expressed how they would take advantage of that opportunity.

They said they had received a substantial number of complaints that Negroes have been denied the right to vote because of race.

Baby Setter Charged With Kidnaping
WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman who left one baby-sitting job to take another — and carried the first child along — was held today on a charge of kidnaping.

The FBI filed the charge Sunday night against Mrs. Dolly Zirk, 20, after she and the missing 10-month-old baby were found at the home of the second employer in suburban Mount Rainier, Md.

Mrs. Zirk was identified as a former mental patient and herself the mother of a 10-month-old child now in her husband's custody.

Police said Mrs. Zirk hired last Friday by Victoria's parents as a full-time baby-sitter. She disappeared from the DeLoach home at noon Saturday, taking Victoria with her.

The FBI said Mrs. Zirk accepted the second baby-sitting job after starting to take care of the DeLoach baby. She told the second employer Victoria was her child and was given permission to take her along, agents said. They added that the second employer knew nothing about the baby's disappearance.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A woman clung to life today after being trapped in a car in icy creek waters for more than 12 hours.

The body temperature of Mrs. Marie Louise Barnett of Benton Harbor was only 62 degrees—32 below normal—when she was brought to a hospital. She has survived only slightly to treatment.

Her car plunged from a rural road into a creek four miles east of Benton Harbor Saturday. She suffered multiple fractures, a dislocated hip and concussion.

Authorities said Mrs. Barnett was driving alone in a snow storm when the accident happened. Three-fourths of her body was covered by frigid water when she was found.

Leftist Out Front in Vote in Venezuela

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Romulo Betancourt, a veteran leftist back from exile, was running out front and strong today with more than half the votes counted in Venezuela's first free presidential election in a decade.

The 50-year-old leader of the Democratic Action party rolled up 501,644 votes to 523,157 for challenger Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal in the three-way contest.

Far behind was Rafael Caldera of the more moderate Christian Socialists. He had 244,803 votes.

Figures on the Communist vote were not available but the vote was estimated at considerably less than 10 per cent of the nationwide total.

Recount Asked by Two at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two of the defeated candidates in the Little Rock school board election asked for a city-wide recount of ballots today.

Mrs. Charles Stephens and W. F. Rector presented the request to the Pulaski County Election Commission.

Unofficial returns showed that Mrs. Stephens was defeated by Traffic Judge R. W. Laster by an 81-vote margin Saturday. Rector lost to Ben Rowland Sr. by 316 votes.

C. C. Ralley, another defeated candidate, didn't indicate immediately whether he would ask for a recount in the race which he lost by 288 votes to R. H. Matson Jr.

The election commissioners were expected to meet later today to act on the requests. Presumably recounting could begin tomorrow.

"I am sure we will act quickly because the city needs a school board," said W. H. Laubach, commission secretary.

Laster, Rowland and Ralley were on a slate which apparently had the tacit backing of Gov. Orval E. Faubus. The governor had assailed as integrationist another slate which included Mrs. Stephens and Rector.

Man Accused of Killing Wife

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—A 25-year-old center has been accused of releasing the hand brake on his car and letting the car roll over his wife, killing her.

At first, the death of Janet Rowles, 24, last Oct. 12 was listed as an accident. Later police reopened the investigation. Over the weekend her husband, James R. Rowles, was arraigned on a charge of murder.

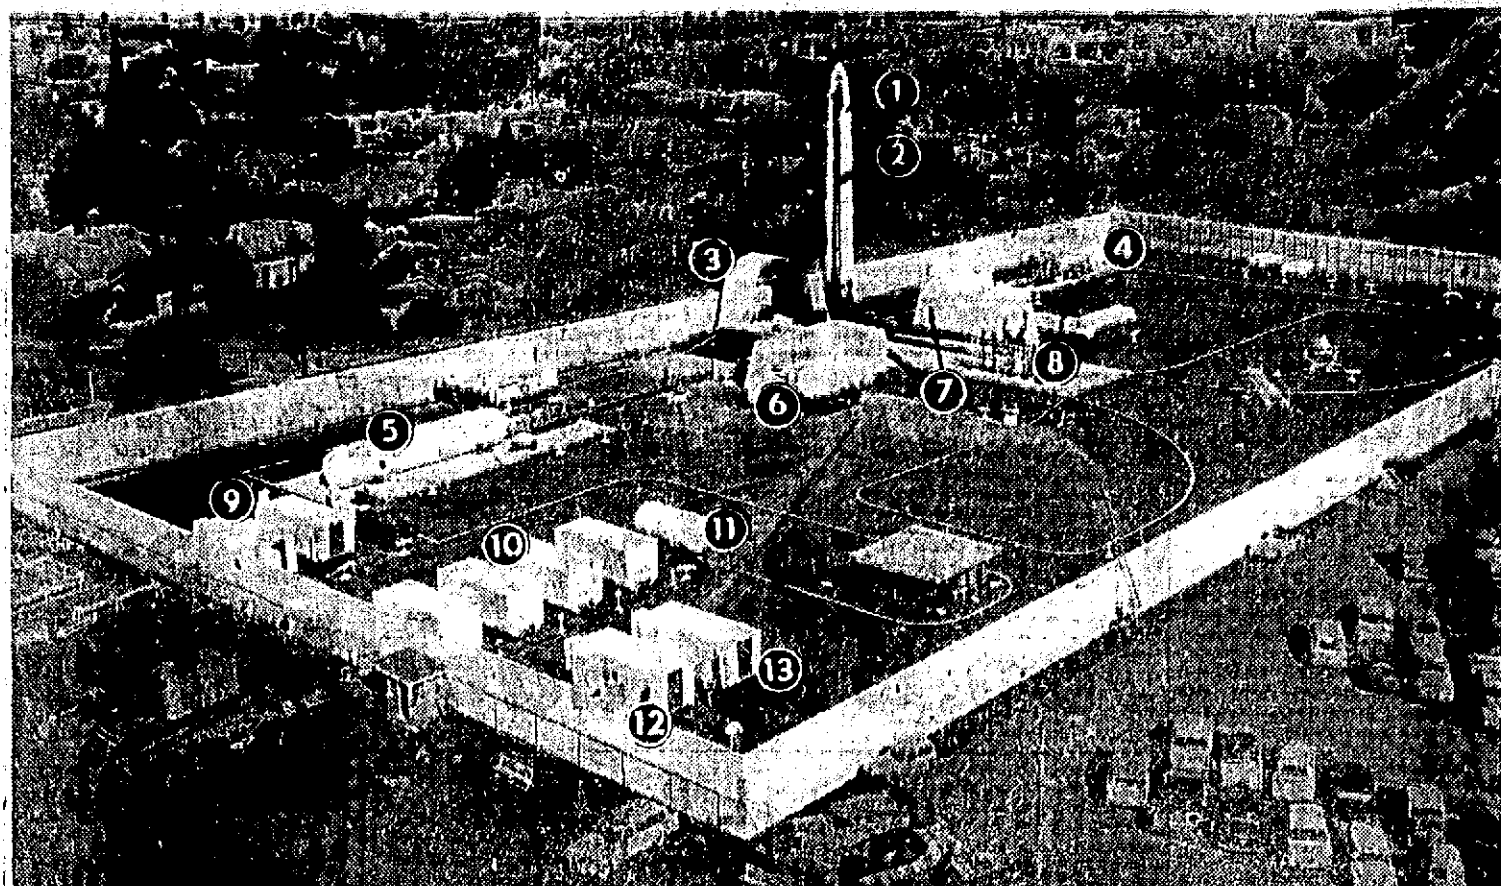

Authorities said Rowles remained on Nov. 29, but his new wife, Fay, apparently knew nothing of the circumstances surrounding Janet's death.

State police said Rowles told them he was out for a drive with his wife and their 10-month-old daughter Suey. He stopped on a grade to fix a tire and his wife walked around to the rear of the car. He released the handbrake and the car rolled backward down the grade crushing his wife.

Probe of Vote Still on Says Publisher

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A publisher, who petitioned a House committee to look into the general election defeat of Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), yesterday appealed to congressional leaders to refuse reports that "behind-the-scenes influences" would block the probe.

John F. Wells wired House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the House committee on campaign expenditures which would investigate the election, and Rep. Ullaur Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. General election in which Dr. Dale Alford defeated veteran Brooks Hays as Fifth District congressman.

Wells said he did not believe the report was "justified."

Rayburn, Davis and Mills were not in Washington yesterday and could not be reached for immediate comment.

Alford, a staunch segregationist, conducted a successful write-in campaign against Hays, a racial moderate.

Wells' challenge of the outcome was based on alleged voting irregularities, law violations and "conspiracy" by certain Democrats to unseat the regular Democrat nominee.

Alford ran as an "Independent Democrat" and expects to be seated in the House as a Democrat.

Sen. Humphrey Returns After Moscow Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) returned today from the Soviet Union and said he does not believe his message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev "bodes any ill" for the United States.

Humphrey plans to give the message to President Eisenhower at a meeting at the White House Tuesday.

"I don't think we have anything to fear from the Soviet Union if we remain strong and stand firm in the crises they develop such as the one in West Berlin," Humphrey told newsmen at National Airport.

He said he considers the American policy in West Berlin now to be a firm one and that he fully supports it.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he had "long and extended notes" on his eight-hour meeting at the Kremlin with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders.

He declined to go into any details but said: "I think Premier Khrushchev wants peace at this time. For his seven-year plan he needs peace." Arriving earlier today in New York, Humphrey said he believes the Western Powers will not be ousted from Berlin if a "united policy" is maintained and we don't lose our tempers.

Come see the Most Beautiful Wedding of the Year...
Thunderbird Elegance is married to the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Cars

It's the brand-new Ford Galaxie. When you see its straight-line roof, the crisp low lines of its body, and the scintillating rear window... you'll think it's a six-passenger, Ford-sized Thunderbird!

Just wait until you see the inside! For it's "Thunderbird" here, too. Relax in the foam-padded cushions... and let your feet sink into plush deep-pile carpets. Then put the Galaxie's Thunderbird V-8 through its paces! That's what'll really make you want to use the keys.

Yet, for all its Thunderbird looks and luxury, the new GALAXIE is priced like a Ford.

See the car that's making all America say "I do."

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF! IT'S COMPLETELY NEW IN LOW PRICE, TOO!

This is a car you must see... drive... and price for yourself. So come on down. There are six Galaxies to check. And remember, each says not only when you buy... but every mile you drive. Like all Fords, the Galaxie has a finish that never needs wax... a long... and your choice of standard engines that use regular gas. And all engines require oil changes only every 4,000 miles.

plains to New York today and subzero cold gripped much of the upper Mississippi Valley.

Oswego, N.Y., had a record one-day snowfall of 33 inches—far exceeding the previous 24-hour mark of 19.1 inches in 1900. There was a 44-inch white snow burden which immobilized the city.

The heavy fall isolated and paralyzed a section of upstate New York.

Schools were closed throughout the upstate New York area, and roads were drift-blocked by the record accumulation. The deepest snow ever accumulated before was 35 inches measured Feb. 5, 1912.

Pulaski, N.Y., had a 24-hour fall of 15 inches, bringing the ground cover to 24 inches. Winds of 20 to 40 m.p.h. off Lakes Erie and Ontario whipped up high drifts.

At Watson, N.Y., on the St. Lawrence Seaway, zero weather thickened ice, and workmen strove to clear six ships of the locks before the ice closed the lakes navigation season ahead of tonight's deadline.

Thick snow descended over parts of seven other states from the Iowa-Nebraska border through southern portions of Wisconsin and Michigan and northern sections of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

The storm deposited 4 to 7 inches over this area.

At Midway Airport in Chicago, the white carpet was 5 inches thick at 9 a.m., and the ceiling was cut to 500 feet by falling snow which sharply restricted ground visibility. Up to that time, planes continued to arrive and depart, but there were delays of several minutes in schedules. At O'Hare Airport, Chicago, there were 4 inches.

The subzero cold extended in early morning from Montana and Wyoming to Iowa, Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

Miles City, Mont., had a 20-below-zero reading. It was 32 below at International Falls, Minn., which shares the nation's winter ice box reputation with Cut Bank, Mont. Lemmon, S.D., had 17 below.

The lower temperature extended southward into the Tennessee and Carolina mountains, and finger-stiffening 20s afflicted even the mid portions of the Gulf States.

For contrast, Miami, Fla., had a low reading of 77 early today. In the Southwest, the temperature rose into the 60s and 70s after a cool night, with afternoon 80s the desert region fare.

Some cooling spread into the Northwest, scattering rain over parts of Washington and Oregon. Some rain sprinkles reached inland to Salt Lake City, and the pattern developed snow flurries in the Idaho mountains.

Farewell Party for Indiscrete Minister

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—About 300 parishioners attended a farewell party Sunday for a pastor who admitted a "moment of indiscretion" that resulted in his being the victim in a sex extortion plot.

The Rev. Dr. Ronald K. Adams reported the incident to police Oct. 21 and resigned as pastor of Oakland's First Baptist Church.

A prostitute pleaded guilty to luring the minister into her bed where they were trapped by her husband and another man. All three have pleaded guilty to trying to extort money from Dr. Adams.

At his side, as the church memorials filed by, were his wife and three children. The reception was held in the home of Norman Green, chairman of the church executive board.

Dr. Adams did not say what plans he has for the future.

Escapée Captured Near Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Robert Dale Morris, 39, who escaped from a prison work detail near Scott Saturday, has been apprehended and returned to Tucker Prison Farm.

He had been the object of a widespread search before an officer caught him at nearby Rosco City early yesterday.

State Trooper Cecil Brakebill, who made the arrest, said that he found Morris using a public telephone booth on a sidewalk. He said Morris surrendered without resistance.

The youth, who had entered prison about a month ago to start a five-year term for robbery, escaped from a detail working at the old State Hospital Dairy Farm.

Officers said after the escape Morris entered the home of J. W. Mayo, who lives near the farm. They said $50 and some clothing was stolen from the residence and most of the money was recovered.

JUST A WATER HOVL

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies had no trouble finding the five youths who had been swiping gasoline from Paul Jernegan's farm tank. The exasperated farmer originally had filled his tank with water, and the thieves were arrested nearby where their car had stalled.

DOUBLE TIME—The watch in the right photo indicates the strange time of 16 minutes past 21 hours. It's a special time piece commemorating the entry of Alaska into the Union. Since some days have 19 hours of light and some nights 18 hours of darkness in the new state, the watch lets Alaskans easily distinguish between A.M. and P.M. The conventional 1-12 numerals, left, are transformed into 13-24, right, by an automatically regulated mainspring.

DOROTHY DIX

No Freeloader License Given By Travel Pass

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Don't you think it would be a good idea if airlines, railroads and bus companies quit issuing passes? These free-loading travelers are encouraged to drop in on friends and relatives unexpectedly. It would be better to have them pay some fare, even if reduced, so they couldn't travel so often. A cousin of ours works for an airline, gets tickets for her family and friends, then visits us for free food and entertainment. This is bad enough but we must pick her up at the airport and return her there. We're 20 miles from the airport and sometimes must spend hours waiting. I know other people have the same problem. When they arrive they say they'll help with the work. Big joke. Maybe they wipe a dish or pick up a towel but that's all. What can we do? — Olive

Dear Olive: The answer lies in a very simple sentence: "I'm sorry but I'm tired, sick, have a date and can't have you this weekend."

That's all. Don't suggest taking passes away from people whose limited budgets don't permit travel. The only way some families can even get together is through free travel. The solution is in your own determination, not in a change of policy by transportation companies.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I'm 19 years old, fairly attractive and popular. I'm engaged to a man 47, whom I love very much. He used to drink habitually but has promised that he'll stop. My parents and family are all opposed to this marriage and feel I'd be making a mistake. And I am very active in my church while he is not of my faith. Will I ever overcome these obstacles? — Enid

Group Protests Faubus' Appearance

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A group of 12 ministers and laymen who drew up a petition indirectly critical of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' scheduled appearance here, has brushed off the governor's comment that they were "brainwashed."

Last week the group prepared a petition saying "We do not want another Little Rock here."

Faubus is scheduled to speak Saturday night under sponsorship of the Sons of the American Revolution. His subject will be states rights.

The governor commented during the weekend that he considered the petition the "work of the NAACP and a few brainwashed live and popular. I'm engaged to a man 47, whom I love very much. He used to drink habitually but has promised that he'll stop. My parents and family are all opposed to this marriage and feel I'd be making a mistake. And I am very active in my church while he is not of my faith. Will I ever overcome these obstacles? — Enid

Dear Enid: If you are fool enough to take this man for a husband, all the angels in the heavenly choir won't save you from disaster. The age difference isn't the biggest obstacle. No man who has been a drinker for most of his 47 years is going to reform for a silly girl. And nothing is worse than being the wife of a drunkard.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I'm 13 and president of a junior church choir group whose members are 10 to 15 years old. Our meetings are getting worse and worse; membership is decreasing, interest falling and no one will offer a suggestion when asked. All we do is read a passage from the Bible, read the minutes and say a prayer. How can we improve our meetings? — Sunny

Dear Sunny: The major problem is that you need the leadership of an adult. Ask some socially minded mother to act as moderator and have her recommend a new form for your meetings. In a group this young, no one has attained an air of authority that will make the meeting work smoothly.

Dulles in Hospital at Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is hospitalized with an intestinal ailment. But his doctors say they find no evidence of a recurrence of cancer.

The State Department said Dulles, 70, was in satisfactory condition at Walter Reed Army Hospital, undergoing treatment for an inflammatory condition of the lower colon. His temperature was reported normal.

The doctors' finding that no cancer was involved was reported by the department Saturday night, when it disclosed for the first time that Dulles had entered the hospital 24 hours earlier. A cancerous section of Dulles' intestine was removed at Walter Reed two years ago. The announcement said Dulles would remain in the hospital several days for treatment, but officers said he still expects to fly next weekend in Paris for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Nationals in Pro Loop Take a Big Bow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syracuse Nationals took a bow today for bouncing the Boston Celtics out of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

In a home-and-home weekend series, the Nats whipped the Celtics 101-92 at Boston Saturday and then repeated Sunday night with a 108-104 victory.

As the result, the New York Knickerbockers, who were idle Sunday after losing 99-92 to Detroit Saturday, took over first place by a half-game margin over the Celtics.

Syracuse's two victories moved the Nats into a third place tie in the division with the Philadelphia Warriors.

The Warriors dropped a 107-97 game to the St. Louis Hawks Saturday, then trounced Cincinnati 103-80 in Sunday's televised game. Cincinnati won Saturday, downing Minneapolis 132-128 in three overtimes.

Larry Costello was the big gun in the Nats' Sunday triumph over the Celtics. He went on a final period scoring spree, collecting six points in a space of 50 seconds to break a 94-94 tie. Costello ended with 23 points, one less than teammate Johnny Kerr.

Eighteen straight third period points carried the Warriors to victory over the Royals. Paul Arizin was the game's top point maker with 23.

Fire Destroys Morrilton Laundry

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Fire gutted the two-story laundry and storage building of St. Anthony's hospital here yesterday with a heavy loss to equipment and supplies.

The building itself was badly damaged.

The fire apparently ruined laundry equipment in the structure, which is separate from the main hospital. Hospital records, surplus beds, sheets and other bed linens, dishes, drugs and other supplies stored in the building were destroyed.

Patients were evacuated from the two upper floors of the hospital building as a precautionary measure.

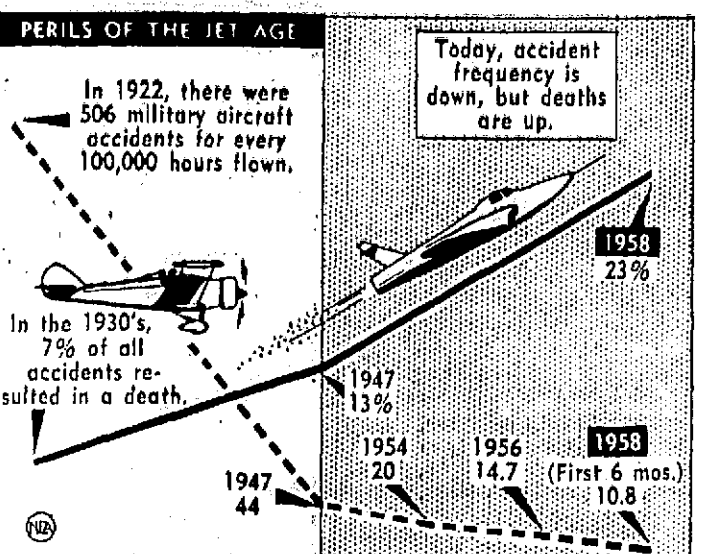

Sister Sabina head of the hospital declined to estimate the damage. She said some insurance was carried.

The superintendent said origin of the fire was unknown but that it apparently started in an elevator shaft.

Morrilton residents today were

PRICE OF PROGRESS—The terrific speeds and complexities of modern military aircraft are increasingly taxing the ability of man to fly them. Yet frequency of accidents has steadily declined, as Newschart above shows, even during the jet age which began in earnest about 1947. On the other hand, fatalities have increased. Today 23 per cent of all accidents result in a death. The story is the same on the material side. In 1947 less than a third of aircraft involved in major accidents were destroyed. Today it is 55 per cent.

Man Found Guilty in Fatal Shooting

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—A Saline Circuit Court jury today found Charles Ellis, 27, of Whittland, Wyo., guilty of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of a Texas salesman near Benton last summer.

The judge imposed a sentence of life imprisonment.

Circuit Judge Ernest Maner did not hand down formal sentence immediately.

Ellis was charged in the death of Arny Z. Cromwell, 43 of El Paso, whose bullet-riddled body was found in a ditch on a highway Aug. 27. Ellis was apprehended a week later in Las Vegas, N.M.

Officers said he was driving a station wagon owned by Cromwell, a typewriter salesman.

A plea of guilty was entered by Ellis attorneys after the trial began this morning.

The jury of eleven men and one woman was out only 10 minutes.

Mississippian Is Champion Duck Caller

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—W. C. Cross, a 33-year-old printer from Greenwood, Miss., is starting another year as world champion duck caller.

Cross won the title for the second straight year at the annual contest here Saturday night.

As in 1957 he used a call borrowed from C. M. Jordan Jr., his partner in manufacturing calls. Jordan also was a contestant.

Jim Boswell of Groves, Tex., was second.

Charles Jackson, 21, of Stuttgart, won the state duck calling title. Brenda Peacock of Stuttgart placed second in the state contest and retained her women's world championship.

Ronald Stephan of Port Arthur, Tex., won the junior championship.

Asks Ban to Sovereignty Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ten Negro ministers today asked the Arkansas Supreme Court to throw out 1957 state acts which created a sovereignty commission and required the NAACP to reveal membership and financial records.

The appeal was made by the Rev. Roland Smith of Little Rock and nine other ministers from throughout the state.

They charged that the two laws constituted an "unlawful deprivation" of Negro rights and that the real objective of the acts was to circumvent "the supreme law of the land by protecting all perpetuating racial segregation"—in the public schools.

J. B. Rooker, Little Rock attorney who filed the appeal, said he would ask for early consideration of the case.

The original suit was filed in Chancellor Guy Williams' court. It attacked the sovereignty commission law and the one requiring certain organizations—such as the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People—to reveal information. It also challenged validity of two other anti-integration laws, but action on these later was dropped by agreement of all parties concerned.

Williams upheld the validity of the information law and the one setting up the sovereignty commission which has broad investigative powers.

The Sovereignty Commission, of which Gov. Orval E. Faubus is ex officio chairman, has held only two meetings—both organizational.

Pair Held for Attempt Robbery

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Two Negro men have been arrested in connection with the attempted robbery of a teen-aged white couple near Warren, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputy Sheriff Roland Hoyle said Willie Lee Williams, 21, and Wallace Brown, 21, and both of Harrell, were held on open charges of an undisclosed jail. They were arrested late yesterday.

Hoyle said Jerry Johnson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haggard Johnson of Harrell, and Miss Dixie Harrison, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Harrison of Warren, reported they were attacked by two Negro men as they sat in a pickup truck on a state highway 4 about four miles west of Warren Friday night.

They told officers a Negro man asked Johnson for a light and then ordered the white youth to get out of the truck and hand over his money. Another Negro man slugged Johnson with a blackjack after he dismounted, the couple said. The latter Negro forced the girl to get out of the truck and seized her, she told police.

Johnson and the girl said one of the Negroes had a shotgun.

The couple said an approaching car apparently frightened the Negroes and one fled in a car while the other started running down the highway.

Miss Harrison was not injured. Johnson was hospitalized overnight for treatment of minor head injury, Hoyle said. No money was taken in the incident.

Jury to Consider the Goldfine Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury soon will consider the case of Bernard Goldfine, Boston industrialist, to decide whether he should be indicted for contempt of Congress.

U.S. Atty. Oliver Gasch said today the case will be presented to a grand jury in the near future. This obviously means the Justice Department has given Gasch a go-ahead to present the case.

The House subcommittee on legislative oversight recommended prosecution of Goldfine for refusing to answer many questions concerning the financial affairs of companies he controls.

The investigation developed that Shortman Adams, also resigned as President Eisenhower's No. 1 aide, took gifts from Goldfine and made inquiries with federal agents about the status of cases in which Goldfine's company was involved. Adams denied he had made any pressure on Goldfine's behalf.

Matter of Fact

No one city has a monopoly for firsts in mass public transportation. Cable cars were first used in San Francisco in 1873. Electric streetcars made their debut in Montgomery, Ala., in 1886. In 1888, Chicago opened the first elevated line, the "L." The first subway opened in London in 1863. New York had the first motorbus in 1905.

Opposition Offers No Solution

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—A highly critical Democratic Advisory Council — of which former President Harry S. Truman and A. J. A. Stevenson are members — blasts President Eisenhower's conduct of foreign affairs but offers no basic change of its own.

That sums up the long statement issued Sunday night by the council on American goals at home and abroad. It was a lot more explicit about domestic targets than foreign ones.

The council did suggest the Democrats, since they're running Congress, could produce a foreign policy they like if Eisenhower fails to please them. The council said:

Congress "has its own constitutional tasks both in devising policy and in wisely exercising the power to grant legal authority for its execution, along with the necessary manpower, material and funds."

But the council is caught in a double irony:

The Democrats, who'll run Congress these next two years, have been running it the past four. In that time they did not, as a party, produce any foreign policy basically different from Eisenhower's.

They'd be in an embarrassing position if they did.

The basic policy followed rigidly by Eisenhower since he took office in 1953 — containment of Soviet and Chinese Communists by ringing them with military bases and alliances — was the one laid down and followed by Truman before him.

The council even seemed to say — but not in so many words — that it approves the government policy and wants no change in that. It said: "We are wholly determined that our country shall carry out solemn commitments to which it is a party."

The only place where the council got specific on foreign policy was in the field of foreign aid. It wants that stepped up.

But on the other hand — since over the years neither party has thought of something new or different — there's no reason to expect any change in the next two years.

For instance: Last Week Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it clear American policy toward Red China is a policy inflexibly unchanged for Eisenhower's last two years in office.

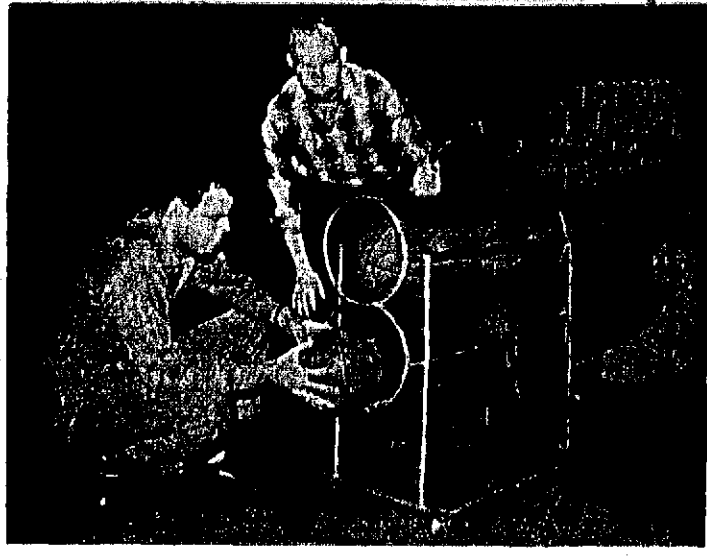

The policy toward the Red Chinese — in addition to American military alliances with Formosa, Japan and the Philippines — is a policy that recognizes the Chinese Communists as the lawful rulers of mainland China, has no formally official dealings with them, and is against United Nations membership for them.

Dulles — and he seemed to be projecting his thought into the indefinite future — said that to recognize the Chinese Reds and welcome them into the family of nations would be to pave the road to American disaster.

This way: The prestige thus given the Communists would increase their influence in Asia — where they are bent on eliminating American trade and driving the United States out of the western Pacific.

Since the Soviet and Red Chinese basic foreign policy is also rigid — push and take over where they can, away from real change on either side is likely, at least soon.

Basketball Rack Big Help

Senior Girls Work Out Daily

HOPE SENIOR HIGH girls basketball, coached by Gordon Beasley, is working out daily in preparation for the season. The eight returning letter winners are, left to right, Valene Tonnemaker, Cecilia Godwin, Violet Tonnemaker, Nina Messer, Joyce Vines, Judy McDowell, Judy Weaver, Judy Ratcliff. Squad members include Ida Nell Egan, Tonna Taylor, Sue Whitley, Brenda Mitchell and Judy Griffin. Managers are Bozanne Freeman and Helen Ramsey.

The schedule: Nashville Tournament Dec. 17-18; Jan. 6, Emmet, there; Jan. 9, Saratoga, there; Jan. 12, Emmet, here; Jan. 16, Guernsey, here; Jan. 20, Spring Hill, there; Jan. 23, Saratoga, here; Jan. 27, Guernsey, there; Feb. 3, Spring Hill, here; Feb. 10, Texarkana, here.

THE STORY: Hope and Adam fly to the bedside of Helen. Adam's mother, as Helen recovers from her illness, Hope and Adam realize the years are slipping by. She is 30, he is 38.

On arriving they found Helen alive and irritable, in the biggest suite in the best hotel, and the secretary walking on mental tip-toe. Nurses were in attendance and the soothing, but disciplinary, battery of doctors a woman of her status would command. There were also reporters, smoking in the lobby or prowling to the doors.

A smaller adjoining suite had been engaged for Helen's son and his wife. It was suitable and the secretary had, seen to it that there were flowers.

Adam was permitted to see his mother for a few minutes. Hope must wait until the next day. He went into the room and Helen looked at him with tired humor. "I'd rather see Hope," she remarked. "You are too masculine, all subdued virility. Thanks for coming, Adam. I'll live through this and you'll probably have to make your entrance half a dozen times before my exit, when it will be conventionally important that you be around."

The nurse remarked that her patient must not grow tired. "I'm always tired," said Helen fretfully.

Adam reported to Hope over a late, excellent dinner. "But she's always had more vitality than you, me, and half a dozen others," he said.

They remained a few days and the secretary was grateful. Her name was not Miss Smith, but Helen always introduced her as Miss Smith. Helen's first secretary had been Miss Smith and when she required a second, following the initial Miss Smith's breakdown, she was also named about the name. It became what is known as a Little Joe.

Adam went home because he was needed there and not here. Lying on the decorative chaise provided by a consideration management and with only the two nurses taking the shifts, Helen looked upon her son and said, "It was good of you to come. But you are still too masculine."

"What about the doctors?" "Medicine only. You're the one with your air of repressed vigor. In a couple of days I'll be rid of teaspoons, naps, and sterile females, then Hope and Miss Smith can manage."

"I'm not very intelligent," she explained without regret. "And not nearly so good a secretary as you head. I suppose how I'm dismissed?"

"Not immediately," said Helen. There was color in her thin cheeks and she looked, Hope thought, fascinated.

Chapter VII

Helen was remarkably at a loss. "Why," she asked, "did you become a secretary?"

"Well, it's a beginning, said Miss Smith. "They sell you on that, but I wasn't sold except on the beginning. It's a living. I didn't want to be a nurse or teach school and I haven't a talent to my name. You know, it's funny but when I told you my name you didn't listen. You just asked could you call me Miss Smith."

Helen explained, faintly apologetic. "That's because my first secretary really was and I called the second one that by mistake, and so it got to be a silly joke."

"My name is Jones," said Miss Smith. "And you can't forget your secretaries names because you sign the checks."

Helen said, "How I must trust them. I doubt that I even look. I simply sign. Suppose we make it Ruby? But why did you take positions with career women? You must have done so deliberately, after, anyway, the first."

"They all go places," said Ruby, "and meet people. So there are always men around. They aren't all old or married. Some of them even have money."

Helen sat up straight. The stole that Hope had just finished was about her elegant, thin shoulders. She said with animation, "You know, that's an idea for an article."

"You've already written it," Ruby said serenely. "I read it, and you're in high."

Hope asked and the question was the reverse of unfriendly, "Any luck?"

"Finally, last night, after you were both in bed. Of course, I didn't learn this at secretarial school nor in the article. ... well, takes you just so far; after that you're on your own. There's a nice place to dance here, downstairs."

Helen said, "As long as you're still my Miss Smith do you mind telling me who—?"

"Dr. Collins's assistant," answered Ruby. "I don't suppose you even noticed him. He's quite good looking."

She smiled, excused herself, and was gone.

Helen said, "Well," and then added, "I suppose she'll bring him to meet me."

"You have met him, but were probably too ill to notice. Now that you're better he'll probably be sent by Dr. Collins."

Helen began to laugh. Hope did not. Helen stopped laughing and asked, "Don't you think it's funny?"

"Not specially."

"Why? Oh — but you can't possibly compare yourself and Adam to—"

"I don't, Helen, I never do."

Her mother-in-law looked at her and this time her regard was compassionate, or close to it. She said, "God help you, Hope."

"He has. Why did you say that?" She felt a wrench at her vitals.

"I'm always sorry for people who love too much."

"There isn't any too much."

"In my book there is. Of course, its capacity. The well is full, so is the saucer. The saucer holds just as much as it can. I was, I thought — it seems a century ago—the well."

Hope was quiet. She thought, clenching her mind against this like a fist, I don't want her to go on.

"Adam's father," Helen said, "loved me as much as he could, and Adam more. Adam amused and interested him. I didn't. I was feverish about everything. Everyone thought it was a desert of him not to mind my having what Ruby calls a career. It wasn't wonderful. He didn't care. He was a million light-years away. I tried to reach him but it didn't work. He was a good friend to Adam, who didn't involve him in complicated emotions."

Hope looked involuntarily, "What happened to the well?"

"You're thinking of other men?" She looked tired. "I suppose once it had expended itself in a desert it didn't refill, just ran dry."

Hope returned and Jupiter went into a slow spin, which was unusual. Mrs. Riggs reported that the Mister ate to fast when alone. All this after Adam had met her at the airport and had made a report to him. Helen was much better. She had, apparently, great resilience.

Dr. Collins had said that soon, in moderation, Helen could resume her professional duties. But first she must rest.

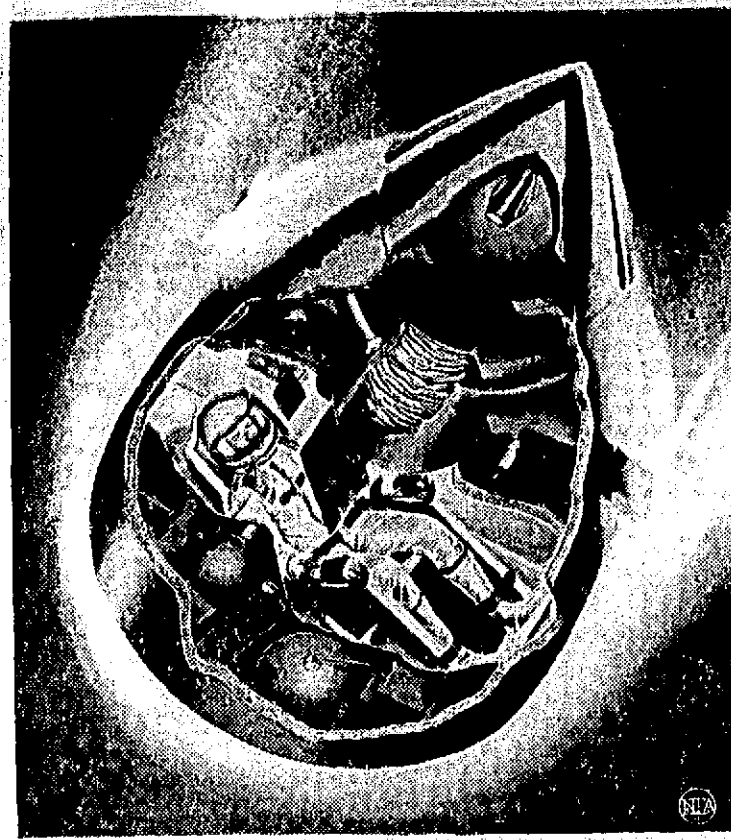

Hope told him about the new secretary.

"Tessa flow in," Helen liked her. "She's hired."

"What happened to Miss Smith?"

It was told by the time they reached home. Adam seemed of two minds. It was funny, Hope thought, watching him. He raised his hat to Ruby. He thought it time that Helen had been moved from the platform. He thought that he was disappointed. "Little baby," Ruby called him, "to have a mirror held up to even if you don't believe what you see. Tell me about Tessa."

"Helen has decided the little joke is threadbare since Ruby put her finger through the fabric. She did say something to Tessa about being forgetful, and Tessa gave her a wide smile and said she didn't care what she was."

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE—The first man who goes into orbit around the earth and returns is likely to do it in a free-falling space capsule instead of a winged craft. Such a vehicle is shown above—bullet-shaped, about seven feet in diameter, with a blunt nose. The spaceman is strapped in a reclining position at the base of the cone. Retro-rockets will slow the cone down as it re-enters the atmosphere. During the last few thousand feet, the capsule will descend by parachute (folded object, center). Drawing is based on a Northrop Aircraft idea which appeared in Mechanix Illustrated magazine.

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista has asked the Cuban Congress to declare a state of national emergency, giving him even more sweeping powers to combat the rebellion of Fidel Castro. Congress was considered certain to grant the request.

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea today accused the North Korean Communists of kidnapping 42 fishermen and their seven boats off the east coast of Korea.

The North Korean radio said the fishermen had entered North Korea's territorial waters Saturday.

TAIPEI (AP)—The Chinese Communists stuck today to the strange pattern of warfare under which they shell the offshore islands only on odd-numbered days. Their guns were silent for the 19th consecutive even-numbered day.

U. S., Russia Agree to 10 Nation Talks

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—The United States and Russia agreed today that the 10-nation talks on prevention of surprise attack have reached a dead end.

There was no sign, however, that the four-week-old talks would be broken off immediately. They originally were planned to last five weeks.

The Eastern and Western delegations have been deadlocked from the beginning over the purpose of the negotiations. Western delegates contend they are here only to study ways of launching a surprise attack and the technical machinery to detect attack preparations in advance.

The Communists have tried repeatedly to take up cold war political issues, contending that they are what will produce a surprise attack.

Today's session chief, U.S. delegate William C. Foster, said the Western Powers felt they could not go any farther in presenting technical studies dealing with surprise attack problems unless the Soviet bloc countries participated in this work.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassili Kuznetsov replied that the Western studies dealing with long-range bombers, missiles and land forces did not get down to the basic causes of surprise attack in the Russian view and therefore were not acceptable.

He urged Western delegates to negotiate on disarmament and cold war issues.

The West's latest technical study proposes an international aerial and ground inspection system to keep a permanent check on the ground forces of all nations.

Russia has suggested establishment of an aerial and ground inspection system but tied this with ings and blocs which are being formed or are under way outside our two continents."

The conference includes representatives from the 13 Arab states, 5 Communist countries, and 6 pro-Western states.

Hurls Challenge to Asian-African Group

CAIRO (AP)—U.A.R. Economy Minister Abdel Moneim Kalsuny today called on the 39-nation Asian-African Economic Conference to meet the challenge of the European Common Market and other foreign economic blocs.

Opening the conference on behalf of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Kalsuny did not mention the six-nation West European group by name. But his implication was clear when he said Asian-African economic cooperation is the "principal means for confronting the results of economic group-
